MEDIA ADVISORY

Last chance: Pop Up Farmers Market returns one last time on Tuesday

Alderman Khalif J. Rainey, Alderman Ashanti Hamilton and the Northwest Side Community Development Corp. are inviting residents to attend the final 2022 summer Pop Up Farmers Market set for TOMORROW - Tuesday, August 30 - from 3:30 – 6:30 p.m. at the MMSD West Basin (former Bee Bus Line site), 4350 N. 35th St. This event is the last of the recurring series set each Tuesday at various locations throughout August. The market is FREE to attend and includes a variety of local produce vendors. There will also be lemonade, children's books, clothing, body care products, and much more available!

"As always, there will be a wide variety of fresh fruits, veggies and other delicious produce that will be available, so I strongly encourage everyone to come out and support our local farmers and small businesses," Alderman Hamilton said. "Knowing the challenges that come with traveling to a grocery store and putting food on the table, I'm pleased to see the Pop Up Farmers Market meeting our people in the community while providing a variety of unique products and nutritious quality produce," Alderman Rainey said.

The Pop Up Farmers Market proudly accepts SNAP/EBT. For additional info please contact Sarah Bregant at (414) 444-8200 x8104 or at sarah.b@nwscdc.org.
